WASHINGTON, June 23.—Two meetings of the Cabinet were held to-day to consider the petitions filed for the respite of Guiteau, until an examination was made to determine his sanity. Attorney-General Brewster said to-night that no decision had been reached by the Cabinet; but all papers were in the President's hands and he would render a final decision possibly at the Cabinet meeting to-morrow.

THE FLAT GOES NORTH.

The Cabinet decided not to interfere with the sentence of Guiteau, and the Attorney-General this morning instructed the Marshal of the District and the Warden of the jail to keep the prisoner in strict confinement and allow no one to see him except his spiritual advisers, his physicians and the officers of the jail.

THE CHINESE CANNOT PASS.

At the Cabinet meeting to-day Secretary Folger reported 60,000 Chinese laborers under contract in Cuba, desirous of returning to China, applied for permission to go through the United States. THE CHINESE CONSUL COMPLAINS.

The Cabinet to-day listened to the report of a letter from the Chinese Consul, of San Francisco, to the National Board of Health, complainting because the Chinese with smallpox had been detained on vessels in San Francisco harbor. Secretary Folger says he is of the impression that the master is one for the legal authorities to decide.

LOS ANGELES DAILY TIMES.

RELL, CAYSTLE & MATHEWS, Prop's.
OFFICE NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET.

SEVEN DAYS' WORK FOR SIX DAYS' WAGES.

The question of what should be the issue in the now opened political campaign in this State, has been fortunately or, unfortunately settled by the action of the Democratic Convention at San Jose. There is no doubt now what it is to be. The party there represented has laid an axe at the root of the tree, and has sworn its broad branches shall no longer afford shelter and rest to the weary millions who have for ages sought its grateful shade. And the contest before the people, however unwilling they may be to participate in it, must be fought, or those who appreciate the privileges of a day of rest must lay down their arms and surrender to the forces that are seeking to supersede the schools of morality by adverse institutions.

By the unwise action of the convention a contest has been inaugurated that can but be protracted and disastrous to the peace of the State. Its action aims a blow at our time-honored and beneficent institutions, and disturbs the very foundations of society, and it will only be from the veriest cowardice on the part of the church if the onslaught upon it is not met with the utmost resources and power.

And there are other interests than that of the church to take a hand in the, to them, unsought controversy. The cry is going up from all quarters, "Give our day of rest." The laborers in the bakery, in the butcherery, in the store, in the saloon, in the machine shop, in the forwarding business, unite with the farmer and the brick-layer and the carpenter, and plead for the day of rest from toil which tired nature demands, and which nature's God has commanded they should take. The appeal they make has nothing of religious or temperance "fanaticism" in it. It is the cry of an overworked system for rest and recuperation—demand for respite from the overbearing power of the avarice of man. The day of rest is the poor man's boon, and one of the richest God gave him. From a point far back beyond history it was his, and the later law commanded his observance of it, and the oldest institution we have among us, which represents both the law and the earlier tradition, confirms the theory that the day of rest from toil is the birthright of all.

The innovation proposed by the latter day Democracy is the severest blow they could aim at the working man. It is not a question of sentiment with him, but a question of bread and life. It is requiring a day of toil of him without remuneration—it is curtailing his opportunities for recreation and mental improvement to a minimum in which there is neither health nor progress—it is handing him over to a condition of things but little removed from serfdom and slavery.

We deem it well that the question has been brought fairly and squarely before the people of the State thus early. There is now time before the election to fully inform the people of the designs of those who have essayed to break down our cherished and blessed institution. The press and the pulpit will see to it that the matter is fully discussed in every family. Every father and mother has a deep interest in this assault upon the only institution we have which throws a safeguard and protection around the rising generation. They will bestir themselves and see that the friends of the laborer are freely informed and go prepared to defeat their enemies at the ballot-box in November.

JUDGE ROSS NOMINATED.

The San Jose Convention yesterday decided the contest between Judges Ross and Sepulveda by giving the former the nomination for the Supreme Judgeship. This was anticipated after the nomination of General Stoneman, for it was not presumed the Southern end of the State would be granted more than its share of the emoluments, notwithstanding there were many willing to offer themselves for martyrdom. The loss of Judge Sepulveda from the ticket some think may weaken it, as he is popular, and if on the ticket would draw to its support the native element of the whole District. However this may be, we should judge Mr. Ross will carry his party strength, less the Sunday law element thereof, which it is not improbable will antagonize him. Judge Ross is a gentleman of most agreeable deportment, and we congratulate his friends on the result of the contest.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR CONGRESS.

Hon. P. B. Tulley, the Democratic nominee for Congress from this district, is a citizen of Gilroy, and a lawyer by profession. His age is about fifty-three years. He was born in Tennessee, but moving to Arkansas in early life, had his "bringing up" in that state. He came to California in the early days of forty-nine. He was a member of the late Constitutional Convention. Judge A. J. King, a classmate of Mr. Tulley, speaks in warm terms of him, and says he is a man of good abilities and integrity of character. The above nomination shelves many aspirants from Southern California.

Wheeler, the thug who strangled his wife's sister, has been granted a new trial on a trivial technicality. The Court allowed extracts from a book which was not proven to be a standard work, commenting upon and treating of the subject of insanity to be read to the jury, and for this a new trial is granted.

If you bring this Convention to San Jose, we can get the delegates to attend. White of Los Angeles, said: "I am opposed to adjournment to San Francisco. The State Central Committee called the Convention here and we have been treated well; there is no reason for adjournment to San Francisco. I understand the theatre can be had next week; let us stay here until we complete the ticket." A motion was made to adjourn for one hour and then reassemble and complete the ticket. Whipple said a special train would leave for San Francisco at any hour of the night we finish business. He was soon captured and taken to jail, when it was discovered he had taken poison. Medical aid was called. A number of a crowd assembled, and if the effect of the poison was instantaneous, the murderer will probably be lynched before morning. The tragedy grew out of family and financial difficulties.
